Price peaks from the jumping lot

Münster: After the auction of the riding horses on Sunday afternoon, the Summer Auction of the foals of the Westfälisches Pferdestammbuch e.V. took place on Monday evening. 28 dressage and jumping foals, riding horse foals as well as riding pony foals, were for sale in the lot of this online auction. Especially the foals with a pedigree predispositioned for jumping were of great demand. For a knock down price of 15,000 Euros Con Potencial was the most sought-after offer.

Just like at yesterday's auction of riding horses, the Westphalian foals at this summer auction also had their price peaks in the jumping lot. With the head number 3 Con Potencial by Conthargos/Diarado (breeder and exhibitor: Carl Kramer, Coesfeld) was for sale. The bay mare descends from a very interesting Westphalian dam line. Dam Verb.Pr.St. Diva Royal placed on the bronze rang at the German Mare Championships in Lienen. Numerous successful sport horses and licensed stallions descend from this line. With Con Potencial the name should be the program. The filly changed hands for a price of 15,000 Euros. Another filly with a pedigree predispositioned for jumping was very popular among buyers. Customers invested 13,500 Euros in the dark chestnut mare with the characteristic name Comme la Beauté. The Comme il faut/Coleur Rubin daughter (breeder and exhibitor: Michael Hölscher, Horstmar-Leer) will remain in Germany. Both fillies will grow up in renowned breeding facilities. The most expensive colt also came from the jumping squad. The Cornet Obolensky/Cayetano L-son Conrad (breeder and exhibitor: Hermann Laumeier, Ennigerloh) out of the line of the state stud stallions Azkaban and Paulaner as well as the licensed stallion Polytraum aroused great interest. The virtual hammer fell for the dark bay colt at 10,000 Euros. He was sold to Panama.

Already in the run-up to this auction the important dam line of the foal with the head number four caused a sensation. The world-famous Olympic horses Ahlerich, Rembrandt and Ahlerich's full brother Amon descend from this line. The beautiful black filly Diamantenbörse with the meaningful pedigree Desperados/Jazz (breeder and exhibitor: Sabien Brittner, Haltern am See) enjoyed great popularity. She was sold to customers in Austria for 9,000 Euros. The colt with the head number 14 Select it by Selectric/Florencio (breeder and exhibitor: ZG Schwerdt, Olfen) also found new owners for the same price. The liver chestnut stallion will remain in Germany.

22 foals were sold at an average price of 7,568 Euros. Eight of the youngest Westphalians will travel abroad. Two of them will go to Sweden and two to Panama. Even if this online foal auction did not quite match the results of the first two foal auctions of the year, auction and marketing manager Thomas Münch is positive: "The result of this online auction is quite satisfactory. 22 of the foals offered were able to find a new owner at solid prices. We are particularly pleased that so many new foreign customers have taken a liking to our Westphalian foals. We are looking forward to the upcoming online foal auctions, which will continue in a week's time with a collection especially for offspring of young stallions.“

Already in one weeks time the next online foal auction of the Westfälisches Pferdestammbuch e.V. is scheduled. 24 offspring from the first vintages of important young stallions will then be for sale. The collection can now be found at onlineauction.westfalenpferde.de. From Wednesday, June 17, 9 am, bids can be placed on the offspring of the young stallions. The bid-up of the foals will start as usual Monday evening, June 22, at 7.30 pm.
